

Don't.

Seriously. Do. Not.

You're not believing me are ya...

Let me tell you a story about Dave:

Dave was a wild motherfucker and now he is dead. He tried to jerk off with live bees under his eyelids. The bees stung, he went blind.

After that he proceeded to drive his car... blind. He could not see the cliff coming and drove right in it, falling like 100 metres.

As he was falling his life flashed before him. At one point he remembered the time he jerked off with bees under his eyelids and thought to himself: well that sucked...

So moral of the story, never try to do this kind of fucked up shit or you'll end up like Dave, dead on the shores of Chile. And on top of that his mother now hates me because I was the one who suggested him to do this in the first place.

So moral of the moral of the story, don't propose stupid shit to your friend because some of them may be crazy enough to try it. And you'll end up like me, with a dead friend and his mother hating me for life. And god only gave you four or five friends or so, don't waste them, they won't respawn.